Performance Notes | Audience Responses:

1. The cast had a decent performance back after having 3 days off. There were some delayed pickups with lines here and there, but overall it was solid. The scene going from the airport to the bus was probably the roughest scene of the night.
2. The audience was a little quiet tonight. Noticeable reactions were good laughs at the both named Kevin line, during the Mr. Michaels bit, whistles during the cardiologists bit, and applause after 38 Planes Reprise. Quickly to their feet at the end.
3. MUSIC: In 28 Hours going out of "Freaking the Fuck Out", was Bryant behind or did you guys come in early? That seemed off tonight.
4. MUSIC: The pause between the end of show and the bows felt a little long tonight.

Production Notes:

1. Coms went out for Light/Stage Management during Screech around when the cast was taking shots, but then came back by the time they kissed the fish.
2. SCENIC: - During Scene 2, Miranda came off SR and notified Jon that the ladder was broken. From what Jon could see, the ladder seemed in good enough shape to continue the show. He notified Greg and told him not to use the ladder during On The Edge. After the show, Jon looked at it and sent a picture to Adam. Would it be possible to have this repaired for the matinee tomorrow?
3. AUDIO: During Phoning Home, Susan came off SR and notified Jon/ Mike that the downstage monitors weren't working. Mike checked the amps, but everything appeared in order. He had two of the cast members adjust the midstage monitors so they were angled more out to fill the space with sound. The cast dealt well with this issue. More troubleshooting to occur between shows. The monitors will be checked pre-show moving forward.
